

Resource Family
Training & Support

Online In-service Training

Understanding and Responding to Problematic Sexual Behaviors in Children

August 25, 2025

6:30 – 8:00 pm

Caring for children who have experienced trauma can come with unexpected challenges, including problematic sexual behaviors (PSB). This essential training is designed to help foster and adoptive parents better understand what PSB is, why it occurs, and how to respond in a safe, supportive, and developmentally appropriate way. Join us for this empowering and informative session that will equip you with the tools and confidence to navigate sensitive situations with care and compassion.

Presenter: Dr. Erin Taylor, Ph.D.

Erin Taylor, PhD, is a Licensed Clinical Psychologist and Associate Professor at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center - Center on Child Abuse and Neglect, and Director of Behavioral Health for the Child Study Center in Oklahoma City, OK.

Click Here to Register

This in-service training is provided to all resource families who support children in their homes. Each participant will receive 1.5 hours of training credit. Email questions to GPtraining@ou.edu.